Anderson Strader Tells of Faith Through Prayer

STRADER'S FAITH: More than nine years ago Anderson Strader fell through a roof at the old No. 43 mine site near town and suffered a severe spinal injury.

Nearly all of the time since he has lain on his back in a hospital. A few times he has been up in a wheelchair, but not many.

So for nine long years, most of the time at Harrisburg hospital where he is at present, Mr. Strader has lain and thought, and listened to the radio, watched television, and talked with visitors. But most of the time, naturally, he has lain and thought.

Mr. Strader has put his thoughts together in a little article he has called "Faith Through Prayer," and today Timotheus is giving to you Mr. Strader's ideas on the subject, formulated while lying in bed, often in pain.

Here is Mr. Strader's article:

FAITH THROUGH PRAYER

Faith comes to men in many different ways. Some men are born with faith; some derive it from others. I found my faith through prayer.

Jesus will give you faith, courage, comfort, health and happiness, because everything that we have comes from Jesus Christ. I have been confined to my bed because of a severe spinal injury suffered in a fall at old 43 mine west of Harrisburg June 4, 1946. Doctors at the time told my wife that "if he lives, he will always be paralyzed and his legs will always remain useless."

She also was told that my hands and arms would be used but little, and later my wife was told that I would live only a short time.

That was when my faith began. I took my case to Jesus. I began to pray and ask my friends to pray for me. I know through prayer by me, by my many friends and through my faith, I was lifted up by Jesus to be able to go out into the street in my wheelchair—to WEBB twice and to WSL-TV once.

And through prayer I now have full use of my hands and arms, although my legs are still useless. But I thank Jesus for both the faith and courage that has come to me. Before I was hurt I didn't have the faith I have now. My prayer and the reading of my Bible through four times have given me the courage to go on. I know if all of you would read your Bible more that you, too, would have more faith and courage to go on.

During the time I have been confined, many things have happened that I am proud of. I have had 183 ministers see me. I have the privilege of hearing the Baptist Hour every morning and I have written a book called "A Sinner's Guide," but I will need more time to get it completed. If there is anybody who could do it for me, I could never thank him enough.

Many friends, little children and older people, have brought me trinkets which I have hanging over my bed. I also have worked with my hands. I have made 126 clothes pin bags and have given each nurse one of them. I have made 24 quilts, 34 cushion tops, 64 aprons and many other things in needlework.

Barter Completes Earth Work on Bridge Approach

The J. D. Barter Construction Co., which has finished its dirt work and has started paving the Illinois approach to the Ohio river bridge at Shawneetown, was scheduled to start moving his earth-work equipment today to Springfield, where he has a new contract.

Mr. Barter announced yesterday that he has received a $50,373.70 contract for the grading, drainage and fencing of the northeast approach zone of the Capital airport at Springfield and that today he would start moving 30 pieces of equipment to Springfield.

The approach is 2.45 miles in length and as of yesterday Barter had completed pavement on 1,200 feet of the high fill that begins at the bridge and extends to a point just east of New Shawneetown.

He said that he expected all of his work on the Shawneetown contract to be completed by Nov. 1. He is mixing his concrete from a batch plant he has set up across Route 13 from New Shawneetown.

Eisenhower to Confer with Dulles Tuesday

DENVER —The White House announced today that President Eisenhower's recuperation from a heart attack is progressing sufficiently to permit him to have a business conference here next Tuesday with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Mr. Eisenhower wanted to talk with Dulles concerning the Oct. 27 meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers in Geneva. Dulles has not been in direct contact with the President since before Mr. Eisenhower was stricken here Sept. 24 with a coronary thrombosis.

The latest medical bulletin on the President's condition at 10:45 a. m. MST (11:45 a. m. CST) said he continued to progress satisfactorily without complications and had a good night's sleep Thursday awakening "refreshed and cheerful."

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sherman Adams, the assistant to the President, will fly here Saturday with Dr. Paul Dudley White, the Boston heart specialist. Nixon was expected to confer with the President sometime before the vice president flies back to Washington Sunday afternoon.

Plans for the remainder of the President's recovery period will depend largely on the outcome of conferences in Denver this week end between Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist, and the President's physicians at Fitzsimons Army hospital.

But there were no indications that the doctors would change their view, said the Chief Executive in the hospital's quiet room for another two weeks before moving him to some other spot—such as Mr. Eisenhower's Gettysburg, Pa., farm—for convalescence.

Officers Raid In Wilmoth Addition

County officers, armed with a search warrant, raided the colored Legion hall in Wilmoth Addition last night and made one arrest.

They also confiscated four half pints of whisky, two half pints of gin and 170 cans of beer.

The raid was made on the information of a state police officer from outside this area, who on Sept. 28 entered the premises and made a buy of a bottle of whisky.

Making the raid with Barrett were his deputies, Everett N. Sneed, James Lyon and Jeff Stricklin.

Arrested and jailed was Raymond Johnson Jr., whom Barrett said was working at the time.

Martin Urges Public Co-operation for Fire Prevention Week

Fire Chief L. G. Martin today reminded the public that the week of Oct. 9-15 has been proclaimed Fire Prevention Week in Illinois by Gov. William G. Stratton and urged the people of this community to co-operate.

He said that most fires can be averted by eliminating fire hazards in homes and public buildings and asked all persons to focus their attentions on removing these hazards during this week.

Martin said that he had delivered Fire Prevention Week proclamations to all the Harrisburg schools to be placed on bulletin boards.

At the high school, members of English classes are writing Fire Prevention essays, the winner to receive either a nine months scholarship to SIU or a $50 savings bond. These essays are sponsored by the local insurance firm, Robertson and Grent.

One of Oldest Church Groups In Saline County

Blaze of Unknown Origin; Nothing Saved from Building

The Liberty Baptist church building was destroyed by fire of unknown origin early today.

The structure was consumed before there was a chance to try to extinguish the flames.

The church organization is one of the oldest in Saline county, being organized in 1832, and the building that burned was the third one that has been built at the site a short distance southwest of Harrisburg.

The fire was first seen by Mrs. Lucille Brantley, who resides with her father, Hugh Hawkins, about three houses from the church. Mr. Hawkins notified the Harrisburg fire department, which received the report at 3:30 a. m.

Fire Chief L. G. Martin said that when the fire truck arrived there was nothing the department could do but stand by and watch to see that the blaze did not spread to other buildings, as the building was a mass of flames.

Nothing Saved
Mrs. Brantley told the fire chief that when she first saw the fire, it was burning out of the rear window of the church, but that in matter of seconds it had burst out all over the frame structure.

Nothing was got out of the church. Things destroyed included a new piano, the pews and song books, new rugs on the aisles, the pulpit and altar, venetian blinds and three new altar chairs.

There could be only conjecture as to what started the fire. There was no heat in the building. In fact, the furnace was torn down so that a stoker could be installed.

Harry Powell, a deacon in the church, and Mrs. Powell were in the church around 5 p. m. and Mr. Powell noted that the switches to the electrical part of the furnace had been pulled.

There was conjecture that defective wiring could have caused the fire. However, Mrs. Powell said today that the church was rewired not too long ago. Some, too, thought that the fire may have been started by lightning.

Pastor of the church, the Rev. Paul S. Frick of Marion, is on vacation.

Truman Avoids Comment on Adlai's Chances

BOSTON —Former President Truman sidestepped comment on possible Democratic presidential candidates before leaving Boston today for a visit with Gov. Averell Harriman in Albany, N. Y.

Mr. Truman flatly declined comment on Adlai Stevenson's chances for the presidential nomination and the 71-year-old ex-President grinned when asked if Harriman was too old to run.

"That's a matter for Harriman and his doctor," Mr. Truman said. "He has to make up his mind. I don't think 64 too old. I'm 71 and in good shape, but I'm not a candidate for anything."

Following a brief meeting Thursday night between Mr. Truman and Massachusetts former Gov. Paul A. Dever, a spokesman for the former President said "they both agree they want an open convention."

Mr. Truman addressed the Greater Boston Jewish Community opening a rally of the combined Jewish appeal.

Although his speech was billed as "non-political," Mr. Truman attacked the Republican's announced intention of seeking a balanced budget during the next fiscal year.

He warned against "political budget cutters" and urged higher taxes on those "who can afford to pay" for national defense.

"It is better than a balanced budget," he said.

Heavy Rains Across Nation Cause Big City Traffic Jams; Blizzard in Wyoming

By United Press

Heavy rains pounded the nation from the Missouri River Valley to New England today, causing monumental traffic jams in big cities and heralding a new autumn cool wave.

In the Wyoming mountains, meanwhile, a blizzard temporarily halted rescue workers trying to recover the bodies of 66 persons who were killed when a United Air Lines DC4 crashed into a cliff Thursday.

The disaster, the worst in history of U. S. civilian aviation, could have been caused by fierce air turbulence which swept the airliner off its course, investigators said.

Autumn downpours included four inches of rain at Peopey, Iowa, 1.44 inches in an hour at Chicago, and an inch and a half in just 45 minutes at Detroit.

The outskirts of Troy, Ill., were ripped by a freak 20-minute storm which ripped up trees and turned a gasoline truck around in its tracks along a two-mile, 50-year wide course.

The rains gave Detroit the worst beating, causing one of the worst traffic tieups in the Motor City's history. The five-hour jam-up halted all street car traffic on Woodward Ave. and 30 school children trapped in a bus were rescued "piggy back" fashion by police.

At Kalamazoo, Mich., a rain-slicked pavement was blamed for the crash of an automobile into a crowd of about 30 school children. The car skidded as it rounded a school bus and smashed into the youngsters. A 14-year-old boy and the bus driver were killed and 14 children were injured.

Rains, which drenched Chicago with 3.63 inches of water in 48 hours, chose Thursday evening's rush hour for their biggest downpour.

Southbound traffic on Lake Shore Drive came to an almost dead halt for two hours and motorists climbed to the roof of their cars to exchange bitter comments about the weather.

Authorities reported 2,000 basements and 23 underpasses flooded, while water bubbled up through about the weather.

Blizzards Shroud Victims, Ship In Deep Snow

Air Turbulence Seen Major Cause Of Disaster

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP)—The United Air Lines DC4 that smashed into 12,905-foot Medicine Bow Peak killing all 66 persons aboard, in the nation's worst civil aviation disaster, was within its normal pattern, a UAL spokesman said today.

Southern Wyoming's towering snowy range of which Medicine Bow is the highest mountain could be considered within the route of its bigger airlines although many aviation maps direct lighter planes to flat countryside 20 miles east, he said.

Inspectors of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, seeking to learn the cause of the Thursday crash, joined University of Wyoming Alpinists at the crash site early today while wind-whipped ground blizzards shrouded the remains of the victims and the plane in deep snow.

Treacherous Air Currents
The United Air Lines spokesman said he would not attempt to "hazard a guess" as to the cause of the crash pending the investigation of the government agents.

But he said the four-engined DC-4 could have flown at an altitude of 14,000 feet over the range, or some 2,000 feet above Medicine Bow, without too severe discomfort to passengers because of the thinner air at that high altitude.

Treacherous air currents caused by the high winds provided great turbulence in the vicinity of the peak shortly before noon Thursday when the missing plane's wreckage first was sighted by a Wyoming Air National Guard jet fighter. The turbulence presumably prevailed at the time of the crash earlier Thursday morning.

A total of 51 bodies had been accounted for in the snow-covered rocky east face of the mountain. An attempt was to be made today to account for the remainder and remove the bodies to mortuaries here. Twenty-six of the bodies were found in a tail section of the plane on a rocky ledge about 200 feet below the point where the plane smashed into the mountain about 25 to 50 feet below the top.

Taking Bodies Down
Russ Hynes, Jackson, Wyo., president of the University of Wyoming Alpine Club, an organization of mountain-climbers, estimated it would take his group about three hours to get the first body down from the peak.

The air turbulence appeared to be one of the main theories as to the cause of the crash.

Total Rainfall
2.40 Inches Here

Harrisburg got 1.45 inches of rainfall between 7 a. m. yesterday and 7 a. m. today, which gave the community 2.40 inches of precipitation since rain began falling night before last.

Galatia's today was 2.08, that community getting 1.63 inches between 7 a. m. yesterday and 7 a. m. today.

Pumps were not operating at the reservoir this morning. Big reason was that Bankston creek was running back into Middle Fork. That made the water too hard and put too much acid into it for pumping. Also, there was not a large amount of water coming downstream.

Lake Harrisburg was expected to rise a few notches as a result of yesterday's 1.63 inches of rain at Galatia.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Tax Cuts, Willy-Nilly

Editorial By Bruce Blossat
That seasoned old realist, Senator George of Georgia, has pronounced what is probably the wisest word that has been heard on taxes in many a month.

He predicts that in 1956 Congress will cut taxes "whether one approves of it or not." This, of course, is election-year wisdom from a man who has seen the political parade for a long time.

What he is telling us is that the compulsions working on congressmen in such a year are simple ones that relate to their judgment of campaign necessities.

To go to the voters without a fresh tax cut to offer is to a politician almost as foolhardy as striking out across the desert without an adequate supply of water.

The delicate arguments of the financial wizards do not govern their thinking. Thus it is actually of secondary importance that Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey now believes that federal finances may be in condition to justify a tax reduction next year.

Not too long back Humphrey voiced serious doubt that the government's ledger would be in such favorable shape by 1956. He was looking for a deficit somewhere around 2.4 billion dollars. Today he sees that deficit prospect as only 1.7 billion dollars.

That smaller sum could be wiped out entirely, the Secretary thinks, if continued prosperity brings in unexpected additional revenues and if the various government departments can trim their expenses 3 per cent.

The result would be a balanced budget — an administration goal since the presidential campaign of 1952. Under these circumstances, Humphrey would urge cuts in both personal and corporate income taxes, presumably of a size that would not once more unbalance the budget.

All this sounds pretty neat and logical, if it should work out as Humphrey foresees. But, as noted at the outset, the gentlemen who will be running for office in 1956 will not require the support of either logic or wisdom to convince them it is syngnet to cut taxes.

They live in a world where logic and wisdom intervene only occasionally. They live by political rules and axioms of long standing. To follow them means, they believe, survival. To flout them they are quite sure spells oblivion.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

DREW PEARSON Says:
Red Chinese Attack On Islands Near Formosa Expected This Fall; U. S. Will Use Atomic Weapons; Ike's O. K. On Atomic Weapons Given Before His Illness.

WASHINGTON. — News of the Far East has been off the front pages since the President's illness, but the fact remains that the Joint Chiefs of Staff are definitely expecting serious trouble around Formosa this fall. It's also no secret that they intend to meet any serious trouble with atomic weapons.

This was cleared with Eisenhower before he became ill, so the military do not expect to clear any further question of using atomic weapons with Denver. This of course may cause serious repercussions with our allies.

In preparation for trouble, the joint chiefs are quietly pulling American manpower out of the Far East and concentrating U. S. military strategy on air and sea power. These air and sea units are prepared to hit back with nuclear weapons.

Currently, three Army and one Marine division are stationed in the Far East. First to be withdrawn will be the First Cavalry Division in Japan, though it hasn't been announced yet. The Joint Chiefs are also considering pulling the Army's 7th or 24th Division out of Korea.

This would leave South Korea with practically no American support, but the Joint Chiefs are counting on Syngman Rhee's army to stop any minor Red attack and on atomic weapons to turn back a major attack.

Similarly, American atomic-air power is poised around Formosa, in case the United States should become embroiled in an outbreak between Communist and Nationalist China. The public doesn't realize it, but 10,000 American troops are stationed on Formosa. Of these, 1,500 are attached to the U. S. military mission. The remainder are Air Force personnel.

With such an American stake in Formosa, any Red attack on the Nationalist-held stronghold will certainly involve the United States. The likelihood of such an attack, in the Pentagon view, is far more imminent than the peace news out of Moscow would indicate. Pentagon strategists are convinced that the Chinese Communists are simply biding their time, that they will attack first Quemoy and Matsu, later Formosa. They expect the latter attack before the end of 1956.

These strategists point significantly to big Chinese Communist withdrawals from Korea, and they believe these troops are being moved to South China, right opposite Formosa. Despite sunnier relations in Europe, these military prognosticators see war clouds gathering in the Far East.

WASHINGTON WHIRL
In secret political huddles, GOP National Chairman Leonard Hall has seriously mentioned the possibility of running another Eisenhower in case Ike pulls out of the race. The President's brother, Milt Eisenhower, Hall pointed out that Ike, himself, has often remarked that Milt has the brains of the family. Probably no one else has exercised greater influence on the President's decisions. Milt even moved into the White House for a while so he could be handy with his advice. The Chicago Tribune wing of the Republican party is quietly building up support for Illinois' urban Sen. Everett Dirksen in case Ike doesn't run again. Dirksen will clash head-on with California's beefy Sen. Phil Kneeland, who is also bidding for conservative backing in the 1956 convention. Friends of Chief Justice Earl Warren say he will accept the GOP nomination if it becomes necessary to stop Vice President Nixon. Warren is generally considered

Good Appearance Not High Priced, Rechter Group Told

Addressing a Men's Clothing clinic of the Rechter Bros. store, Herman Soifer, president of Brookfield Clothes, Inc., New York City, declared Wednesday at St. Louis that America's best-dressed men wear Brookfield clothes, which are priced at $35 for year-round suits and $25 for sport coats.

Such famous personalities as Tommy Dorsey, Errol Flynn, Sammy Davis Jr., Mickey Mantle, Bob Cousy, the Ames Brothers, have been selected as America's best-dressed men in their specific fields. Mr. Soifer indicated that the typical American can wear the clothes the stars wear, at prices that are truly popular and affordable.

"This comes as good news to millions of men who are strapped by budgets," Mr. Soifer said, "for what man would not be proud to wear the suits and sport coats worn by such famous personalities."

This disclosure was made in the second of a series of men's clothing clinics attended by 100 store managers and members of the selling staff of the Rechter Bros. stores in Illinois and Missouri. Grover Fulbright, local store manager, attended.

Samuel Rechter, of the Rechter Bros. store, conducted the clinic.

Lake Baikal in Russia is believed to be the deepest (5,711 feet) lake in the world.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

John Kennedy, publisher of the Sioux Falls, S. D. Argus-Leader, a life-long Democrat, took a trip to Denver following Ike's illness, concluded that the public was getting all the facts. Since the first day when some false statements were issued, Kennedy reports, everything has been on the up-and-up.

Paper Asks Readers to Figure Out Pied Type

LAKIN, Kan. — In a hurry to leave for a newspaper convention, Monte Canfield, editor of the weekly Lakin Independent, had an accident with the page one form he was carrying to the press. To his readers he explained, "We poked our big fat belly through the middle of it and spilled the whole damn thing on the floor."

The staff helped pick up the pied type and put it back together. But there were 16 lines left over. These, at Canfield's departing decision, went to the bottom of the page, and a note to readers suggested they try to find where the lines should have been inserted. "No prize will be given for the correct answer," the note added.

Owing to the narrow channel connecting it with the ocean, the Mediterranean Sea is virtually tideless.

NEWSPAPER WEEK The Big Window

Women are among the most avid readers of newspapers. It is only proper that a large portion of the Big Window which looks out on life be devoted to news of particular interest to them. Thus the big "PRIVATE" mark on the Women's Pages in American newspapers. Without their community news, their ceaseless parade of entertaining reports on fashions, customs, and gadgets, life would be drab indeed.

Fashion Offers Slim Silhouette for Fall

The slim line of fall, expressed in three very different ways, is a flattering one. Richard Cole uses it (left) in a boucle wool jersey sheath with wide neckline jeweled in pearls, crystals and rhinestones. White satin sheath by Elfreda (center) is fastened with jeweled buttons, topped by black coat in ribbed faille lined in the white satin. This could go to dinner, the theater or an evening party. Ensemble from Richard Cole (right) has lined box jacket over long-waisted boucle knit jersey dress in grey striped in red-and-black. Jacket has jeweled buttons.—By GAIL DUGAS, NEA Women's Editor.

Pinball Operator Fined; Judge Hits U. S. Policy

CHICAGO — A federal judge today fined a tavern operator for failure to have U. S. tax stamp on a pinball machine, then assailed the government for taxing activities illegal under state law.

U. S. District Judge Joseph Sam Perry fined Joseph Bauldry, Wauconda, Ill., tavern operator, $1 on Bauldry's plea of nolo contendere (I do not wish to plead) to a charge that he did not obtain a federal gaming stamp for a pinball machine.

Perry said he would "abide by the letter" of the law and impose

Senator Douglas Suggests Plan For Government Aid in SI Area

Tough Job!

UNITED STATES SENATE Committee On
Labor and Public Welfare
September 29, 1955
To the Editor of the Register:
A CONSTRUCTIVE PLAN TO HELP THE DISTRESSED AREAS
The current boasts of full employment and peak production tend to gloss over and obscure the depressed conditions existing in many communities throughout the United States. In many of these communities this condition has existed for several years, and we have economic famine amidst plenty. It is a distress born of declining industries, depleted mining resources, lack of industrial diversification, seasonal activities, and the closing of defense activities. We must and should give this special problem our attention so that all parts of our country may have the opportunity for reasonably full employment.

In August of this year physical output was higher than it had been during the peak month of 1953. But there were about a million more unemployed than there had been then. In fact out of 149 "major" labor market areas surveyed by the Government in July, there were 19 where the rate of unemployment was between six and nine percent. In five areas it was between nine and twelve percent while in seven areas it was over twelve percent. There were 101 "minor" labor market areas where there was a "substantial labor surplus," namely, where the unemployed were more than six percent of the working force.

The problem is therefore widespread. It includes the textile centers of New England and New York, the railway and coal centers of Pennsylvania, and the whole soft-coal region running from West Virginia into Kentucky, and our own Southern Illinois. Unfortunately, our Illinois communities south of Route 40 and particularly south of Route 50 are among those which have been hardest hit. This has crippled the lives of tens of thousands of our best citizens. It has done so through no fault of their own. Employment and income have shriveled away, and this has hurt merchants, professional folk, churches, etc.

With no prospects of revival from other sources, I do not believe that the Government can be indifferent to this calamity. The Government helps people who are in trouble from natural causes such as droughts and floods. I believe it should act similarly in the case of these other disasters. One of the features of any such program of help is, of course, the construction of useful public works. Congressman Gray and I have already been successful in getting an appropriation of one million dollars to start the construction of Devil's Kitchen Lake, and work on this should start in a few months. We will try to get other improvements for this region. But a wide and adequately financed general program is also needed. I have therefore drafted and introduced a Depressed Areas Bill (S. 2663) and have obtained the sponsorship of a number of other Senators for it. I am enclosing a brief statement of this bill. You will note that it seeks to have the Government help communities and individuals which are trying to help themselves. It creates a Depressed Areas Administration, coordinates the activities of the major offices of the Federal Government which could deal with this problem, and provides for local industrial committees such as those which have been developed in Southern Illinois. It provides for the construction of needed public facilities and works such as water supplies, sewage systems, hospitals, roads, etc. It also aims to encourage the starting of new private industries by means of rapid tax write-offs and by public loans up to two-thirds of the total cost. It also provides for special training classes to develop new skills among the unemployed and extends the benefit period under unemployment insurance an additional thirteen weeks. There is also a provision for greater supplies of processed food for home and institutional use where it is needed.

I believe that such a measure is really needed and is constructive for the nation as well as for these hard-hit areas. Hearings will be started on it in January before a Committee of which I am Chairman. It can only be passed, however, if the public shows a real interest in it and understands what it is all about.

I hope the people of Southern Illinois particularly will think this plan over and, if they approve, give us their help. I am attaching a detailed analysis of the bill which I hope you may find space to print together with a copy of the bill for your information, and I shall be glad to answer further inquiries.

Faithfully yours,
Paul H. Douglas
United States Senator from Illinois

Personal Income Drops in August

WASHINGTON (U)—The Commerce Department reports that the annual rate of personal income in August dropped 309-million dollars below the July rate to a total of 305-billion dollars.

The department said the portion of this total represented by wages and salaries eased off from an annual rate of $212,400,000,000 in July to $211,600,000,000 in August.

But it said the annual income rate for the first eight months of this year still was 13-billion dollars higher than for the same period of 1954.

"Well, we'll break the monotony for you," Curry said. "Fifteen days in the city jail."

Record Spending By State and Local Governments

WASHINGTON — The Census Bureau reported today that state and local governments spent record amounts in fiscal 1954 and also went deeper into debt. Total spending was $36,600,000, 000 for the 12 months ended June 30, 1954. Of this nearly one-third went for building and maintaining schools. States spent $1,700,000,000 for educational purposes, and local governments spent $8,800,000,000, an increase from the previous fiscal year of $1,200,000,000. Spending for maintenance of streets and highways and for building new ones took the next largest slice of state and local government spending. In 1954 this figure was $5,500,000,000, an increase of $500,000,000. In order to pay their bills, state and local governments borrowed $6,800,000,000 during fiscal 1954 and paid off $2,400,000,000 of their existing debt. This left debt of state and local governments, the report said, at a record $38,900,000,000, 15 per cent higher than in fiscal 1953.

Smash Plot to Assassinate Syngman Rhee

SEOUL, Korea — Counter-intelligence agents smashed a plot to assassinate President Syngman Rhee, and arrested eight conspirators, it was announced today.

The assassins planned to kill Rhee with hand grenades and then take over the government, the Office of Public Information announced.

Republic of Korea agents captured the men Monday, the day set for the attempted assassination, the government said.

According to the announcement, the gang planned to murder Rhee during the celebration of the 4,288th birthday of Korea at the Seoul capital grounds. But Rhee unexpectedly cancelled his plans to attend.

A second attempt was scheduled for the following day while Rhee attended graduation exercises at the Republic of Korea's military academy at Kuktong, seven miles north of Seoul. But the CIC agents moved in to break up the conspiracy.

The announcement identified the ringleader as Kim Kae Ho, a former official of the defunct Korean Independence League and a one-time member of the "Blue Cloth Society" in China. Kim Koo, leader of the league, was once Rhee's top opponent in a presidential campaign. He was assassinated by an army officer in 1948 after being accused of working with the Communists.

Maj. Gen. Fleming, FDR, Truman High Official, Dies

WASHINGTON — Maj. Gen. (Ret.) Philip B. Fleming, high government official in the Roosevelt and Truman administrations, died at Walter Reed Army hospital Thursday night while undergoing an operation for cancer.

The 68-year-old administrator entered the hospital two days ago. A native of Burlington, Iowa, Fleming graduated at the head of his class at the U. S. Military Academy in 1911. He returned there in later years as an instructor in engineering and ran the academy's athletic program from 1926 to 1933.

In the early New Deal years, Fleming was deputy administrator of the Public Works Administration. Later he was coordinator of the Resettlement Administration. He became administrator of the Wage and Hour Division of the Labor Department in 1939 and federal works administrator in 1941.

In 1949 Fleming was appointed chairman of the Maritime Commission and the following year became the first undersecretary of commerce for transportation. In June, 1951, former President Truman appointed him ambassador to Costa Rica. He retired from this post in 1953.

Wagner Promises All-Out Fight for Top Legion Post

MIAMI, Fla. — A 41-year-old Battle Creek, Mich., attorney promised today an all-out battle "until the last vote is counted" in his campaign to become national commander of the American Legion.

J. Addington Wagner hopes to succeed the present commander, Seaborn P. Collins of Las Cruces, N. M., when the Legion opens its national convention here Sunday. He got a healthy boost Thursday when W. C. Daniel of Danville, Va., announced he will not be a contender until next year.

Other top candidates are Thomas Paradine of New York and Truman C. Wold of North Dakota.

Some 50,000 legionnaires are expected for the convention. Most of the top officials already were on hand for pre-convention committee meetings which started today.

Those appointed were: Oldham Paisley, publisher of the Marion Daily Republican; Paul Dorris, Cartersville; Walter Woodcock, Alton; Richard Novinson, Chicago; Clifford C. Arrested After Auto Collision

George Lane, who lives east of Ingram Hill, was arrested by Sheriff William T. Barrett and charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol following a collision yesterday.

Barrett said he picked up Lane after his auto was involved in a collision with one driven by Harold Stunson at Mill and Poplar streets yesterday.

Taken before County Judge Trafletton Dennis, Lane pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $200 and costs and his driver's license picked up.

Red-Supported Candidate Leads In Brazil Election

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil — Juscelino Kubitschek, Communist-supported candidate of the Social Democratic Party, took a commanding lead today in Brazil's presidential elections. His victory appeared assured.

Joao Goulart, Kubitschek's running mate, also moved out in front in the separate race for the vice presidency. He, too, appeared a certain winner.

Returns, as reported by the semi-official Radio Nacional, gave Kubitschek an ever-increasing lead over his closest competitor, Adhemar de Barros, millionaire industrialist candidate of the Social Progressive Party.

Auto Sales Soar To All-Time Record

DETROIT — The automobile industry reported today sales soared to all-time record levels in September, indicating the boom in the nation's key industry was getting even bigger instead of leveling off.

General Motors, which produces more than half of the nation's automobiles, said it sold more new cars during September than it ever sold in any previous month in its history.

Ford Motor Co. said its sales in the last 10 days of September were higher than in any previous 10-day period in its history.

The record sales, coming in a month when automobile sales usually are at one of their lowest points of the year, were viewed as a strong indication that even all-time record sales of 1955 models might be in danger in the 1956 market.

Two Boys Suffocate In Attic Trunk; Locked in by Brother

NEW HAVEN, Conn. — Juvenile authorities today held a broken-hearted 10-year-old boy who admitted locking his brother and another boy in an attic trunk where they were suffocated.

Authorities said Jim Primicerio, a "keen boy with lots of imagination and dreams," admitted locking the bodies of his brother, Dominick, 9, and Daniel Bencivengo, 8, were found Thursday after an all-night search.

The bodies were found when Jim told his mother, "Maybe they're in the trunk upstairs. They used to play there."

Senator Claims U. S. is Wasting Money in Asia

TOKYO — Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.), of the Senate Appropriations Committee, charged today the United States is wasting money in Asia and still failing to give aid where needed.

The Louisiana Democrat said the U. S. is spending too much money in Formosa, Thailand and Viet Nam.

Ellender, completing a two-month tour of Communist Europe, the Middle East and Asia, said, "If we are to fight communism, our money ought to be spent where the people can better their position now, particularly in underdeveloped countries like Laos and Cambodia."

Six presidents of the United States had no children: Washington, Madison, Jackson, Polk, Buchanan and Harding.

The doctors and nurses have been wonderful to me. I call Mrs. Nell Hancock, who has cared for me nine years and four months, my special nurse. My coal mine friends, E. D. Wiley and Tommy Swan, bought me a radio, and employees at Peabody 40 and 43, Sahara 5, 6, 7 and 16 and Blue Bird 6, 7 and 8 all have given me money. Many others, too numerous to mention, have been good to me, including the boys at the Harrisburg funeral home.

People who visit me seem amazed at my faith and courage. And in closing I wish to thank each and every one who has helped me in any way and may God be with all of you forever.

Dog Bites Seven Children in School Yard

CHICAGO — A mongrel dog that bit 10 children in a school yard was under observation today for rabies.

The brown, shaggy dog dashed into the school yard of the Mulligan Elementary School just as a crowd of children was about to enter. It ran snapping among the youngsters until it was driven off.

Dolores Brown, 7, who was bitten on the nose and finger, was given an anti-tetanus shot and was then hospitalized for observation. The other children were treated at a hospital and then released.

Police later seized the dog in front of the home of its owner, Mrs. Estelle Robinson. She was given five summonses and will be arraigned Monday.

Time to Condition and Train Hunting Dogs

Clyde Morton, nine-times winner of the National Championship Trials, says, "Both men and dogs need pre-season workout."

"As hunting season approaches

both need training to get into condition and to sharpen their hunting skills. That's why I recommend man and dog train together, starting 6 weeks before the season. It never should start less than 4 weeks before opening day.

Your dog will go for Purina Dog Chow available in Checker and Kibbled Meal. It's built to meet dogs' nutritional needs, tested on thousands of dogs at the Purina Research Kennels and proved by thousands of satisfied owners of pet, hunting and farm dogs.

Poultry Women Are Checking on Egg Production

The records made by some of our Purina Chow customers who raise chickens for eggs are setting a good pace for early pullet egg production. And these Purina Chow fed pullets laying records are coming in from the four corners.

Out on Rt. 4, north of Harrisburg, is Mrs. Grinnell McConnell, whose 120 pullets laid 1,775 eggs during the month of September.

Mrs. Roscoe McDowell, who had 47 birds six months old, kept a record of production along with her record of Purina chow fed pullets which laid 652 eggs in 30 days.

Mrs. Frank Spurlock, Rt. 3, with 154 birds fed on Purina Chow, gathered 3909 eggs in the same 30 days.

Sixty-five pullets owned by Mrs. R. E. Evans, Rt. 1, laid 1,254 eggs in the same period.

Mrs. Sam Booten, Equality, with 122 pullets raised on Purina Chow reports production of 1,804 eggs in the past month.

That old saying that "competition is the life of business" would seem to apply in reckoning these figures, for the cacklers in Mrs. Spurlock's flock laid more eggs according to the number of chickens per day. Twenty-four of her biddies had their off-days during September. Maybe they will do better in October.

Sam Witherspoon Moves to California

Must be good profit in raising those Purina Chow eating pigs and hogs. Sam Witherspoon, Carrier Mills, for whom we often weighed pigs and hogs, has moved to California. A letter tells of the many interesting sights seen by him and his family en route to Los Angeles.

Steve Mitchell Building New Barn

Taking time out from a busy life of building for others, Steve Mitchell, Purina Chow feeder residing on Rt. 2, is building a fine new barn, on which he has made good progress until our fall drouth ended.

October 6th Seems to Be Summer's Last Stand

Some of our Purina customers who have been so busy on the farm during the good fall plowing and planting weather, took time out during the rain Thursday and Friday to come in for new supplies of Purina Chow and fertilizer. Getting their purchases ready and cording six cases of eggs from Checkerboard poultry raisers kept us on the jump until suppertime. Looks like Oct. 6 was Summer's last stand.

Free Clothespin Bags Well Received Locally

The ladies certainly are enthusiastic about the free Checkerboard Clothespin Bag we've been giving away. They say they are just what they've needed.

You can get a free bag, too, by stopping in for 100 lbs. of Purina Laying Chows this month. And you'll be glad to know that Purina Laying Chows pack a lot of eggs in every bag. Why, when you consider results they are among the cheapest laying feeds you can buy.

Lane Seeks Field Manager, Player Additions to Make Cardinals Contenders in '56

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Frank Lane, new general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, went shopping today for a field manager and additions to "a very fine nucleus" that would make the club a pennant contender in 1956.

He said he had three men under consideration for manager and revealed the names of two of them, present Manager Harry Walker and Freddie Hutchinson, pilot of Seattle in the Pacific Coast league. Lane, 59-year-old former general manager of the Chicago White Sox, said the terms of the three-year contract he signed Thursday with the Cardinals was "mutually satisfactory."

It included an attendance bonus clause and a salary "in excess" of the estimated $40,000 a year the American league team paid, he said.

The players considered by Lane to be the "nucleus" are Stan Musial, Red Schoendienst, Wally Moon, Bill Virdon, Ken Boyer, pitchers Harvey Haddix, Tom Poholsky, Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, who will return from Army service, Larry Jackson, "a born relief pitcher," and "one or two others."

Around the nucleus, he said, he hoped to do for the Cardinals what he did for the White Sox—lift them from a second division club to a pennant contender.

He noted the need for "some additions" but admitted "my brother executives may not be easy to divorce from their talent." He said the main needs were pitching, adequate catching and a regular first baseman.

Lane, whose activities in the trade mart earned him the nickname "Frantic Frankie," said he would make every effort "to enhance the playing personnel and become a contender for the 1956 pennant."

Early reports indicated some compromise of Lane's trading extravagance, but Club President August A. Busch Thursday made it clear Lane would have a loose rein. Anticipating the question, "Will Frank Lane be given full authority?" Busch stated:

"The answer is a simple YES!"

Carrier Mills Defeats Stonefort, 55-44, in Grade School Cage Tilt

Carrier Mills travelled to Stonefort Thursday night to open the basketball season for both grade school teams. The visitors capped decisions in both games, taking the preliminary game 50-19 and the main contest 55-44.

Carrier Mills used 18 players in the preliminary game, with 14 breaking into the scoring column. Next game on the Carrier Mills schedule is Oct. 20, when Greer Springs will make a call and Oct. 26 Carrier Mills goes to Shawneetown.

Scoring in the main game: Carrier Mills—Rice 8, Fitts 5, Shelton 3, Prather 2, Shaw 5, Taborn 24, Williams 5 and VanHoy 3; Stonefort—Craig 8, C. Smith 7, Redwine 0, B. Smith 15, O'Keefe 10 and L. Smith 4.

Olson-Robinson Bout Scheduled For November 4

CHICAGO (AP)—Former middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson will get a chance at the age of 34 to try and regain his old title from the 27-year-old champion, Carl "Bobo" Olson, in the Chicago Stadium Nov. 4.

The fight was announced Thursday by the sponsoring International Boxing Club, who said it would be televised nationally, with Chicago and the area of 150 miles surrounding blacked out, and also would be broadcast both locally and nationally.

Robinson has beaten Olson twice previously, scoring a 13 round knockout in Philadelphia Oct. 26, 1950 and winning a 15 round decision in San Francisco March 13, 1951.

However, Robinson retired from the ring after he lost to Joey Maxim in an attempt to win the world light heavyweight championship June 25, 1952, announcing that he would try to make his living as a dancer on Dec. 18, 1952.

He returned to the ring Nov. 29, 1954 with a six round exhibition win over Gene Burton and since then has had six fights on a comeback campaign. He lost to Ralph "Tiger" Jones here Jan. 19 in his second comeback appearance, but won the other five bouts.

Robinson's last victory was a 10-round decision over Rocky Castelli, in San Francisco July 22, one of the three victims of Olson in previous title defenses.

Olson's other victories in defending his 160-pound crown were over Kid Gavilan and Pierre Langlois. In all Olson has won 65 of 72 bouts. His last defeat was June 22 when he was knocked out by Archie Moore in the third round of a bout for the light heavyweight title. Since then Olson has beaten Jimmy Martinez and Joey Giambra.

Egyptian Ass'n For Retarded Joins National Group

CARBONDALE, Ill. — The Egyptian Association for Mentally Retarded Children, the first organized effort to aid such youngsters in Southern Illinois, has been accepted into the membership of the Illinois Council for Mentally Retarded Children, William A. Howe of Carbondale, association president, reported today.

The council is a coordinating agency for some 36 parent groups within the state aiding mentally retarded children. Membership in the Egyptian Association is open to all interested persons in the southernmost 31 counties in the state which have parent organizations.

Howe also announced that a silent film made during last summer's camp for mentally retarded children at Giant City State Park has been shown at various meetings throughout the state, reaching as far north as Albion. A showing of the movie may be scheduled by contacting Howe, director of the physical plant at Southern Illinois University.

Next meeting of the Egyptian Association for Mentally Retarded Children will be at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, Oct. 13, at University School Auditorium in Carbondale. Main speaker will be Sister Theodore of St. Coletta School, Jefferson, Wis., one of the first schools in the nation to institute a training program for mentally retarded children.

Plan Halloween Program at Carrier Mills

The Carrier Mills Lions club, which each year sponsors a big Halloween celebration on the uptown streets of Carrier Mills, is busy preparing plans for the 1955 program.

For the past two years a Harvest Queen has been selected and proved exceptionally popular and such a feature will be a part of the 1955 celebration.

Selection of the Harvest Queen will be determined by votes of patrons of the festive event announced today by Warren Jennings, chairman of the Harvest Queen committee.

To indicate the contestant of their choice the name of the Harvest Queen candidate must be written on the reverse side of the donation stub. Stubs are to be turned in to the Lions Harvest Queen committee each Monday evening at the Harmon temple. Fifty votes are placed to the credit of the contestant whose name appears on the reverse side of each stub. The standings of the candidates will be posted weekly in the Harry Life Insurance Agency window. Final votes must be presented to the committee by 3 p. m. Saturday, Oct. 29, the date for the Halloween program.

The following are rules and qualifications established by the queen contest committee for the conduct of the contest.

1. Contestants must be of high school age or older.
2. Each contestant must indicate her intentions to compete in the contest by filling in a registration form on or before October 15. Registration forms will be available at Harry Life's Insurance Office.
3. The patrons choice for queen must be written on the back of the donation stub. If an entire donation stub book is to be counted for one contestant only, the contestants name does not have to be written on the back of each stub, but only on the back of the last stub.
4. Major prizes will be presented to the 1st, 2nd and 3rd place winners in the contest.
5. The contest will be open to any girl of high school age or over regardless of whether she is a past Harvest Queen or not.
6. Queen contestants must be bona fide residents of this area.
7. No votes will be accepted later than 8 o'clock Halloween celebration night at the speakers' platform.
8. All contestants under 18 years of age must have their parents' or guardians' written consent to enter the contest.
9. Decision of the judges will be final.
- Miss Faye Hearn was Harvest Queen in 1953 and Miss Wanda Holway reigned over the celebration in 1954.

Dodgers Get $9,768 Each For Series Win

Yankees Receive $5,598; Pool Second Largest in History

NEW YORK (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees will receive the second largest World Series checks in history.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick announced today that each member of the world champion Dodgers who was voted a full share by his teammates will receive $9,768.21. Each member of the losing Yankees voted a full share will receive $5,598.58.

These amounts are eclipsed in World Series history only by the checks received last year by the New York Giants and Cleveland Indians. Each winning Giant received $11,147.90; each losing Indian received $6,712.50.

Last year's World Series went only four games and this year's went seven. But that made no difference in the amount the players received, for they share only in the receipts of the first four games. Last year's shares were bigger because the ball parks of the two contestants are bigger and therefore, the attendance for the first four games was bigger.

The winning team in a World Series gets to split up 42 per cent of the players' pool; the losing team gets 28 per cent, the other 30 per cent goes to the other first division teams.

Here's what each member of the other first division clubs will receive: Milwaukee Braves—$1,694.65; Cleveland Indians—$1,586.73; New York Giants—$1,081.60; Chicago White Sox—$982.23; Philadelphia Phillies—$558.98; and Boston Red Sox—$472.98.

There were no surprises in the way either the Dodgers or the Yankees split up their shares.

The Dodgers voted full shares to pitchers Roger Craig and Don Bessent, both of whom were with the club less than half the season but contributed important victories in the pennant race. Craig also won a series game. Among the lesser awards, which included prizes for clubhouse men, batting practice pitchers, etc., the Dodgers voted a half-share to pitcher Jim Hughes, farmed out in mid-season.

The Yankees voted full shares to pitcher Jim Konstanty, and infielders Billy Martin and Billy Hunter, although none were with the team all season.

Hunsinger Placed On Inactive List by Montreal Alouettes

MONTREAL (AP)—Chuck Hunsinger, Harrisburg, Ill., a former star for the Chicago Bears, has been put on the inactive list of the Montreal Alouettes football team.

Hunsinger and Jim Brandt, formerly of the Pittsburgh Steelers, were dropped from the players' roster because under Big Four Football Union rules the Alouettes are allowed only 10 American players per game. They were numbers 11 and 12.

Both players will stay with the club, however.

Who Rides With Wyatt

by Will Henry

Illustrated by NEA, Copyright 1954, 1955 by Will Henry. Used by arrangement with Random House.

XXXV
A man knew that Behan had the men to make good his promise to seal off the town. In the past 24 hours he'd arrested five different Earp supporters trying to get out of Tombstone and into touch with Wyatt in the field. In a final-hour drive like this one, where they evidently knew exactly where Wyatt was hiding, the Cochise sheriff would stop at nothing to make sure Ringo and his deputized rustlers got the marshal. And, once they had him, he would never live to share that Fremont Street cell block with Pete Spencer.

Worse than that, only Bob Paul knew how "final" was the hour for Behan and his outlaw bunch that late March night. Before leaving Tucson, he had gotten new territorial Governor, F. A. Tittle, just appointed by President Chester A. Arthur to take over from acting Governor Gosper, to agree to come to Tombstone secretly, so that he could see for himself how things went there. Tittle was due to arrive the 27th, only three days away. Paul had his promise that should local conditions in his opinion warrant it, he would appeal to President Arthur to clamp down martial law in Cochise County.

When Ringo and his posse closed in on the Lucky Cuss next morning, all they got for their trouble was Doc Holliday's croaking advice that "Wyatt's not around. He said to tell you he's gone off to see a man about shooting a dog."

For the next three days Ringo and his gun-belted pack of outlaw bloodhounds ranged the Sulphur Springs and San Pedro valleys around the clock. All they had flushed out when they rode into Tombstone on the 27th was half a dozen surprised coyotes and two or three indignant chaparral birds. But when they walked their blown horses down Allen Street, they gave Governor Tittle a first-hand good chance to observe for himself what kind of deputies Johnny Behan was using to run down a U. S. marshal whose main crime appeared to be that his own hip pocket was full of legal warrants.

Tittle wired President Arthur for permission to raise a company of territorial militia to invade Cochise County and hand it a dose of law and order that would settle it down for keeps. The President declared a state of revolt in southeast Arizona and asked Congress to clamp Cochise County under full martial law, using Colonel Biddle's federal troops from nearby Fort Grant. That did it. But it didn't do it that day.

March ran out, April went by, the uneasy spring started on into May. Wyatt was still in the brush. Behan and his warrant were still waiting for him to show in Tombstone.

Bob Paul, finally, found the way out. He contacted Wyatt early in May with the information he had arranged, through Tittle, for him to take sanctuary in Colorado. Governor Pitkin of that state had agreed to refuse extradition, should Behan seek it. Curly Bill Brocius, the brains and body of the rustler gang, was dead. Johnny Behan was all mine, though. Meanwhile, you can do me a little favor.

"You got only to name it, Wyatt, you know that."

"You tell Lilly Beloit I'll be by to see her on my way out, tonight, soon as the town's quiet. Say, along after midnight sometime."
